DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

The information disclosure statement filed December 9, 2003 fails to comply with 37 CFR 1.98(a)(3) because it does not include a concise explanation of the relevance, as it is presently understood by the individual designated in 37 CFR 1.56(c) most knowledgeable about the content of the information, of each patent listed that is not in the English language. It has been placed in the application file, but the information referred to therein has not been considered.

Japanese reference 0492340A2 has been considered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hitoshi et al (JP 02-281670).

Hitoshi et al illustrates in figure 1 two discharge regions [applicant's plurality discharge sections] each discharge region including electrodes (2) and (3) [applicant's electrodes]. Figure 1 also illustrates the different modes [applicant's mutually different beam modes] generated in each discharge region, as described in the abstract. The abstract describes controlling the supply voltage to the electrodes [applicant's adjust distribution amount of discharge power].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 2 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hitoshi et al (JP 02-281670) as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Kimiharu et al (JP 61-280689).

Regarding claims 2 and 3,

Hitoshi et al discloses the gas laser oscillation device of claim but is silent as to the dimensions, shape or construction of the electrodes.

However, the use of electrodes having different dimensions for controlling the modes is well known in the art, as evident by Kimiharu et al and described in the abstract.

Regarding the limitation of the discharge section, it is the examiners position that the discharge excitation of the gas is dependent on the electrode, which forms the discharge section.
